| About | From the street, the visitor enters the reception area of ??the sports facility, located on the ground floor of the existing building. Glazed, it makes it possible to guess the depth of the plot and let the hall be seen sport. To join it, the visitor runs through a first landscaped garden. The topography of the garden provides access naturally on the upper level of the hall sport. The visitor enters the space of conviviality, whose view plunges towards the Dojo and, in the background, towards the pleasure garden. Athletes access directly to the changing rooms by borrowing the stairs or the elevator. The Dojo is the centerpiece of this place dedicated to martial arts; it turns out that so at the end of the wandering from the pavement. Its volume is ample and airy. The architecture allows natural light abundant, by the two facades and the straight skylights on the roof. |
