Description

OPEN ARCHITECTES

On a quest for an architectural approach that is in keeping with the question asked within the given context, the sites and functions developed are varied (public buildings, offices, housing, etc.). The theme that runs through the work of the atelier is its emphasis on the quality of human relations established between the players in the construction process (client, authorities, architect, consultants, contractor, etc.), on the respective skills of these same players: it is the quality of these relations and therefore the wisdom of those that weave them that allows the emergence of a real architectural creation.
