AGWA: CHANTIER

AgwA is a Brussels based architecture office founded in 2003 by Harold Fallon and Benoit Vandenbulcke. Like many others, the agency was immediately confronted with the arbitrary nature of a fragmented field of architecture, with numerous practices to look at, with an infinite number of technical possibilities and with constantly evolving landscapes. Are there still relevant ideologies to follow or is the architecture re-focusing on individual practices?

The book consists of a selection of images from different construction sites, accompanied by texts by Jan De Vylder (architects de vylder vinck taillieu, Gent) and Tom Emerson (6a architects, Londen).
