BELGIUM NEW ARCHITECTURE 6

Belgium New Architecture is the sixth in a series of books that examine the significant achievements in modern architecture. A book of reference for contemporary architecture.

As an introduction, writer Pierre Loze will meet architect Christian Kieckens for an informal conversation about current architecture and its future. Steven Beckers, architect, will present his research: The paradigm shift towards urban food production (Le changement de paradigme vers la production alimentaire urbaine). Victor Lévy, architect, will then consider the digital revolution within architecture.

Office/shops ? housing/working ? cultural & educational sites ? public spaces: 62 recently completed structures by Belgian and foreign architects, to be discovered, here in this tome.
